

BCPS Magnet Programs Middle School Programs

Health Sciences

Students are introduced to the field of health sciences through a rigorous academic program that includes intensive health science-infused thematic instruction and authentic experiences through partnerships with healthcare providers, medical facilities, and other related agencies. Students receive a solid foundation in the general function and organization of the healthcare field, as well as the study of the human body and its structure, functions, and systems in their health science elective classes. This program prepares students for success in high school health sciences programs.
