Digital Instrumental Music

This program prepares students for a broad range of professional activities in the music world. Students use their musicianship to enhance and complement their understanding of music theory, music literature, and music production in order to compose, perform, and produce their own music and the music of others. Students explore analog and digital technologies to apply those technologies to recording, composition, and performance as an individual musician and in ensembles. Previous experience, though not expert level, is expected for applicants.
